

Two faces

I immerse myself into the darkness
As I slowly advance onto you,
Your loud breath is percing the air
As I'm walking through the dark room

My hand strongly grabs your throat
Your heart beating faster and faster
Then gently stops, as I let go your lifeless body falling on the floor with no remorse, I walk away

In the hall, a cold draft suddenly rises
Through the mirror, a killer is staring at me
Silent and emotionless, he stands
In a blink of an eye he vanishes
The air changed like a whisper from a distance

I had a bad feeling, so I rushed In the room
Your body was there lying peacefully
I screamed, I cried, there was nothing left to do
Needless, I should have been there
Who did this to you, why. they will pay.

My hand starts to shiver in pain
My hart beats faster and faster
Then gently eases as I let go
Your murdered corpse on the floor with great sadness I walk away

In seek of vengeance, I pull my knife
Going back in the hall, facing the mirror
In rage and wickedness, I stand
In a blink of an eye I strike
The warm blood of the killer is flowing
I slit his throat, as I fell to the floor.

My hand stops moving
My heart beats faster and faster
Then gently stops as it let go
My murdered corpse fell to the floor with no purpose, I pass away